*Adoor Gopalakrishnan:
Images, Reflections &
Techniques of a
Cinematic Journey*

The year 2015 completes and celebrates Adoor Gopalakrishnan's Golden Jubilee of cinematic journey. The first film he made in 1965 was a 20-minute short fiction A Great Day. It was in the same year he had founded the Chitrallekha Film Society as well as the Chitrallekha Film Cooperative in Trivandrum, which was India's first film cooperative for the production, distribution and exhibition of films made outside the commercial sector. Gopalakrishnan was the pioneer in the evolution and dissemination of film culture in Kerala.

From his first feature film Swayamvaram (One's Own Choice, 1972) to Nizhalkuthu (Shadow Kill, 2002) forms the three-decade long journey of Gopalakrishnan's reflections on life lived and imagined, of life dreamt and idealized. And this is amply contextualized and extended to times now by two major and reflexive documentaries made on him, including, Feet Upon the Ground (2014) by Vipin Vijay, and Images / Reflections (2015) by Girish Kasaravalli.

The awards and honours bestowed upon him are a legion and that include Legion d'honneur by the French Government, with the Indian government honouring him with the Padma Vibhushan and the Dadasaheb Phalke Award, besides many others.

We at Osianama are privileged to represent his first Director's Masterclass at 5:30pm on Saturday 19th September 2015 at the iconic art-deco architectural masterpiece Liberty Cinema, now in its new avatar as Osianama at Liberty. The Masterclass will be conducted in conversation with eminent cinema scholar-activist Amrit Gangar and eminent film maker & director Girish Kasaravalli.
